Dear Eriko,

As week six of lockdown draws to a close, we hope that you are keeping safe and have been able to get outside in the beautiful weather. Many of you have been in touch via email, phone or social media to let us know how you're doing and we have loved hearing about the ways you are continuing to make cycling part of your daily routines, while maintaining social distancing. Keep it up!

In this week's news, we launch the Big Bike Revival to keep Covid-19 key workers pedalling with free services and take a whirlwind trip around the world to see how different cities are creating space for cyclists. You can enjoy the full CycleClips weekly email, plus loads of other benefits by joining Cycling UK today.

Stay safe and look after each other,

Hannah Duncan, CycleClips Editor

P.S. It's (virtually) business as normal for our campaigns team; you can catch up on their latest news.

The BIG BIKE REVIVAL For Key Workers

The Big Bike Revival for Key Workers

As the UK battles the ongoing threat of coronavirus, cycling has proven to be vital for many key workers, enabling them to get to work safely while maintaining social distancing. That's why we want to do our bit to keep key workers pedalling.

We're working with over 120 partners across England and Scotland to provide free bike repairs, loans and equipment to frontline staff.

Keep the wheels turning

Thank you to everyone who has already donated to help support our dedicated front-line workers by donating to Cycling UK's #KeepTheWheelsTurning campaign. Your donations make such a huge difference. For just:

- £15 - a health and social care worker can have free membership, keeping them safe and insured on the roads.
- £30 - a key worker can have their bike serviced and checked.
- £50 - can provide essential equipment packages, including locks and protective clothing.

Do you want more space for distancing?

Bike lanes have been redrawn in Berlin. Pavements have been expanded in Milan. £10 million has been announced for pop-up infrastructure in Scotland. So why isn't this happening where you live?

Cycling UK is calling for more space for safe cycling and walking across the UK, including a recently launched campaign in Northern Ireland. Take action! Write to your local council today using our simple online tool.
